

Paper(s) as Epistemic Carrier of Knowledge

Technical University of Munich

22-23 February, 2023

Deutsches Museum, Munich, Museumsinsel 1

22 February

13:30 - 15:00

Introduction

Michael Friedman and Daniela Zetti

The Transmission of the Almagest in Manuscript Culture

Stefan Zieme

15:00 - 15:30

Coffee Break

15:30 - 17:00

"All of This Was Born on Paper". Producing and Circulating Knowledge in Mine Surveying (1500–1800)

Thomas Morel

Paper Technologies Reconsidered

Christine von Oertzen

17:00 - 18:30

Break

18:30

Paper Fast and Loose (online)

Lisa Gitelman

23 February

9:00 - 10:30

Paper and Power

Michael Zakim

The Epistemic Potential of Artificial Flatness

Sybille Krämer

10:30 - 10:45

Coffee Break

10:45 - 12:15

Circulation of Annotated Course Manuscripts at the École Polytechnique

Jean Dhombres

Book-Keeping. From Paper to Casebooks: Materialisation and Production of Medical Knowledge

Axel C. Hüntelmann

12:15 - 13:30

Lunch

13:30 - 15:00

Broadsheets at Academic Institutions as Provoking Thought and Memory during the Early Modern Period

Joseph Freedman

Paper Technologies in the Editing Factories of the Big Humanities

Lotte Schübler

15:00

Final discussion and Farewell

The workshop is organized by the Chair for the History of Technology at TU Munich and The Cohn Institute for the History and Philosophy of Science and Ideas, Tel Aviv University. The event takes place in cooperation with the Deutsches Museum and with the Matters of Activity • Image Space Material Cluster of Excellence at Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin.

Website: <https://www.mcts.tum.de/research/papers-as-epistemic-carrier-of-knowledge/>

Participation is free but registration is mandatory. Please register at: friedmanm@tauex.tau.ac.il, daniela.zetti@tum.de

Organized by: Michael Friedman and Daniela Zetti

